

DUTCHESS COMMUNITY COLLEGE DAY OF DESIGN

February 6, 2010

The architecture faculty, the Dutchess Community College Foundation and Catskill Art are sponsoring a Day of Design to be held on February 6, 2010 at the college. The day will bring together area high school students in 10th, 11th and 12th grade who are interested in architecture. This workshop will allow participants to work for one day on the design of a small architectural project. The students will work in small groups paired with an architect to develop a concept board and architectural model for the project.

The day will start at 8:45 am and end by 4:30 pm. We hope this opportunity will give the students a chance to see how an architect thinks and works as well as have the opportunity to discuss the field of architecture with them. Students who do not have an architecture course in their high school will be able to experience a possible career path.

Information and Forms can be found on the College Website at www.sunydutchess.edu/enact under Day of Design 2010
